

DHL Manages Thousands of Landing Pages over 220 Countries

"What's so great about LiveBall is that we can now create campaigns in a matter of minutes. By setting up A/B tests we can always ensure the best possible outcome..."

Multiplying

As an experienced marketer working with landing pages, you know what an undertaking launching even a single conversion-focused landing experience across multiple countries in several languages can be. Scaling your program requires the right people, processes and platforms.

ion's LiveBall landing page management platform helped DHL centralize their campaigns in order to launch and manage worldwide landing pages.

DHL used LiveBall to allow their marketing teams – spread across the globe – to launch hundreds of campaigns in house while improving conversion rates and boosting ROI, all without a team of developers.

Over 220 countries and territories in the Americas, Europe and Asia

DHL is an international leader in courier express and parcel delivery services. The company operates in over 220 countries and territories, and specializes in providing customers with customized transportation solutions from a single source.

DHL Express' Global Digital Marketing Specialist, Rolf Inge Holden, came to ion interactive with the need to manage and optimize hundreds of brand-consistent landing pages. When Holden first adopted LiveBall in 2010 he deployed the software to marketing departments in fifty countries. Based on the results he saw in those first fifty countries, Holden started rolling out the software to more areas where DHL has a presence.

Today DHL has thousands of LiveBall generated landing pages in over 220 countries and territories in the Americas, Europe and Asia.

DHL Express' Global Digital Marketing Specialist, Rolf Inge Holden, says:

"What's so great about LiveBall is that we can now create campaigns in a matter of minutes. By setting up A/B tests. We can always ensure the best possible outcome of a campaign. The templates-based system lets marketers in DHL create web pages without worrying about any HTML coding. It's a code-free zone that's very intuitive and easy to use.

DHL Express is the market leader in international express deliveries worldwide. We're present in more than 50 countries and territories, providing our customers with the fastest, most reliable, door-to-door deliveries in the market from one day to the next. For DHL, it's important to reach new customers, as well as engage our existing customer base in order to grow our revenues. Online campaigns are an essential part of that, and this is the first time I'm able to track results with such an amount of detail and precision. I've always had to rely on agencies to help me set up campaigns and online experiences. Now I do this myself.

We're currently using LiveBall in 50 countries in the Americas and Europe, and we're seeing some amazing results. Going from a very low conversion rate to as much as nine percent, now, has really made a difference in our ROI. Fifty countries are now working with the same tool, this means we have total visibility of results and can learn from each other, reusing the best demonstrative practices across the countries. When managing a global brand such as DHL Express, brand consistency has always been important. Together with ion interactive, we've developed a set of DHL specific templates that gives us great flexibility, yet, ensures that consistency. LiveBall is a powerful tool for marketers in DHL, and we'll be able to do things we never done before."

Faster path to ROI

The story of DHL and LiveBall is ultimately about giving marketers control over their landing page programs. By dramatically increasing the speed and agility of production and testing, DHL saw conversion rates soar. By centralizing content, marketers quickly put conversion-ready proven pages to work from anywhere in the world. LiveBall helped DHL close the gap by creating and managing their worldwide landing page campaign in-house with fewer resources for a faster path to higher ROI.
